

THE HOLY ROSARY

October rolls around once again, the month dedicated in honour of the Rosary. We remember that not only this month, but the entire territory of our parish, is dedicated in honour of Our Lady of the Rosary. It's good, then, that we have just begun the regular recitation of the rosary after our Saturday morning Mass. As we ask Our Lady to 'pray for us sinners, now and at the hour of our death', at the same time the sacrament of Confession is taking place. That means that, even as we're praying, actual sinners are being absolved, by the wonderful working of the grace of God. Come and pray, and if anyone has an interest in beginning the recitation of the rosary at another time, let me know.

What about the history of the Rosary itself, then? Well, in the Roman Breviary, one of the Lessons for this feast at Matins is as follows:

When the heresy of the Albigensians was making head against God in the County of Toulouse, and striking deeper roots every day, Saint Dominic, who had only just laid the foundations of the Order of Friars Preachers, threw his whole strength into the work of rooting out these blasphemies. So that he might be better able to work at this, he cried for help with his whole soul to that Blessed Maiden, whose glory the falsehoods of the heretics so insolently assailed, and to whom it has been granted to trample down every heresy throughout the whole earth. It is said that he had from her a word, bidding him preach about the praying of the Rosary among the people, as a strong help against heresy and sin, and it is wonderful with how stout a heart, and with what great success, he did the work laid upon him. This Rose-garden (or Rosary) is a certain form of prayer, wherein we say one-hundred-and-fifty times the salutation of the Angel, and the Lord's Prayer between every ten times, and, each of the fifteen times that we say the Lord's Prayer, and repeat tenfold the salutation, think of one of fifteen great events in the history of our Redemption. From that time forth this form of godly prayer was extraordinarily spread about by holy Dominic.

Now it's often said that St Dominic instituted the saying of the rosary, but that claim isn't directly made by this reading. The saying the same prayers repeatedly, and for a certain number, is old and widely found: praying such-and-such many 'Our Fathers' was sometimes a substitute for praying the same number of psalms, if you couldn't read or remember the psalter. And the practice of having an instrument to count what you've done is also old. But there's no reason that Dominic shouldn't have been inspired to put these various things together in his preaching for a particular purpose.

It is also sometimes said (wrongly) that the Rosary is repetitive and therefore it is a bad thing. It is repetitive, and that's a good thing. It places before us the mysteries of our redemption, and does so with the constant reminders: 1) in the 'Hail Mary', that these things happened in a particular time, and in a particular place, and that our salvation is about our whole selves; and 2) in the Lord's Prayer, that we depend completely on God, even for our daily bread. In heaven, the Angels forever repeat 'Holy, holy, holy' — because God is. Similarly, we need to be reminded of 1) and 2) above, because they're true.

So: watch this space for an announcement which will be encouraging and inspiring.
